Dollar tax will help fund emergency medical services

RICHMOND - To help fund emergency medical services, motorists will be required to pay an additional dollar when they register or reregister their vehicles beginning July 1 and with July renewals.

Division of Motor Vehicles Commissioner Donald E. Williams said the new law is expected to generate about $3.5 million which will be used to fund training programs and equipment purchases for emergency medical and rescue services throughout the state.

Williams explained that the Health Department's Division of Emergency Medical Services, EMS, will administer distribution of the funds.

In another law effective July 1, DMV will use a profile instead of a full-face photograph on driver licenses and ID cards issued to people who are under age 21.

DMV began taking profile photos of applicants under age 19 last July, to help merchants and ABC officials recognize more quickly whether someone is eligible to buy alcoholic beverages.

Legislation extended the requirement to applicants age 20 or younger. Individuals may apply for a replacement license or ID with a full-face photo after they turn 21.

Also beginning July 1, to deter unlawful vehicle sales and to prevent unfair competition for legitimate auto dealers, you must have a dealer license if you sell, offer to sell, display for sale or permit the display for sale of five or more vehicles, trailers or semi-trailers within twelve consecutive months.

Williams said this includes shopping center parking lots,service stations and other locations that display vehicles for sale.

In other new laws, special license plates will be available to members of Radio Emergency Associated Citizen Teams, REACT, a national volunteer organization that works with law enforcement officials to help motorists who need assistance.

The plates will cost an additional $10 a year, and REACT membership certification will be required.

Also, any vehicle specially equipped and used to transport groups of handicapped people will be eligible for handicapped license plates and special parking privileges. Certification will be required.

IRS interest rate drops

The interest rate charged by the Internal Revenue Service on tax underpayments and paid on overpayments will decrease from 16 to 11 percent, effective July 1, 1983. The penalty rate on the underpayment of individual and corporate estimated taxes will also be 11 percent, the IRS said.

The Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act (TEFRA) of 1982 provides that the interest rate will be set semi-annually and be based on the prime interest rate for the six-month period ending September 30 and March 31, respectively. Interest accruing on tax underpayments and overpayments is compounded daily. However, compounding does not affect underpayment of estimated taxes.

Before the law was changed,the rate was set annually and the interest had been computed at a simple rate.

The next change in interest rates will be made on October 15, effective January 1, 1984.

DMV offices set to close

RICHMOND - All Division of Motor Vehicles offices and driver testing stations will be closed Monday, July 4, in observance of the holiday.Many vehicle license agencies will be open that day, however, and DMV suggests you call first to be sure. Otherwise, DMV offices are open Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday, from 8:30 to 4:30, and Thursday from 10:00 to 6:00.

Decline of motor fuel use noted

The combined use of gasoline, diesel fuel and gasohol decreased 9.2 percent last April when compared with April, 1982 consumption levels according to statistics released today by the State Office of Emergency and Energy Services (OEES).

During April, 206.2 million gallons of gasoline were sold in the State or 9.6 percent less than the 227.9 million gallons sold in April of 1982.

Gasohol sales totaled 3.7 million gallons in April, or a 99 percent increase over the 1.8 million gallons of the gasoline/ethanol blend sold during April of 1982.

The OEES motor fuel tally reveals that the use of gasoline, diesel fuel and gasohol has risen just 0.1 percent in Virginia this year.
